Deal Count

Note: Deal count includes announced M&A, private placement, IPOs, SPACs, and public financing deals. Drake Star did not act as financial advisor on transactions listed on this page

- With $86B in disclosed value for closed deals, 2023 was a record year for gaming from a deal value standpoint, mainly due to the much-awaited closing of Microsoft's acquisition of Activision in Q4'23 after over a year of regulatory tussle. The total disclosed value for announced deals was just over $20B in 960 deals during 2023, tracing back to pre-COVID levels.
- 163 M&A deals were announced during 2023 with over $10.5B in disclosed deal value. Savvy Games Group/PIF's acquisition of Scopely for $4.9B led the chart and Kahoot's acquisition by Goldman Sachs consortium ($1.7B) and Techland's majority acquisition by Tencent ($1.6B) were the only other $B+ deals during the year. The deal value of most of the mid-sized and smaller deals was not disclosed.
- PC / console was again the most active M&A segment (44 deals), closely followed by mobile (37) and platform/tools (25). Deal activity went back to pre COVID levels as early as Q1 with Q3 reporting the lowest number of deals, and a 30% quarterly growth in Q4 again.
- Over $3.5B was raised in 750+ financing rounds of private companies, comparable to the $3.4B raised in 2020 (excluding the large Epic Games deal). Mobile was the most active segment (168), followed by blockchain (159) and platform/tools (143). Top financings were VSPO ($265M), Candivore ($100M) and Second Dinner ($100M). The most active VCs in early to late stage included Bitkraft, a16z, Play Ventures and Griffin Gaming while the most active seed stage VCs were Goodwater Capital, 1Up Ventures, Sfermion and Shima Capital.
- Drake Star Gaming Index saw a gradual recovery during the year (11.5%), outperforming the broader markets during the first seven months of the year while sliding below in the 2nd half. VanEck Video Gaming ETF was up 32.4% for the year.

Q4 Summary

- With 43 announced deals, M&A activity picked up compared to the last quarter (33 deals). While there were no large value deals, M&A activity for smaller / midsized deals remained healthy but most of them with undisclosed deal value. Top deals for the quarter included Aonic/nDreams, Keywords/The Multiplayer Group, MTG/Snowprint and Devolver/System Era.
- Over $600M was raised in 162 private financing deals in Q4, as the financing market in converging to the pre-COVID levels. Some of the notable raises were Animoca Brands ($50M), Leonardo.Ai ($47M), Strikerz ($40M) and ON ($25M). Over 85% of the financings were for seed and early-stage companies as investors remained cautious on mid to late-stage financings.
- In public markets, gaming companies saw a strong rebound from its lows in October with Drake Star Gaming Index recovering all its losses (growing over 13%). Grand Centrex Limited (GCL), a Singapore-based video game distributor and publisher, is going public on Nasdaq via a SPAC deal valued at $1.2B.

MARKET OUTLOOK

SETTING UP TO BE A YEAR OF STRONG ACTIVITY

- After a hyperactive COVID period (2020-22), deal activity gradually shifted back to the pre-COVID levels in 2023 and we predict M&A activity to steadily increase again in 2024.
- Top buyers will likely be Tencent, Sony, Scopely / Savvy Games, Keywords and Take-Two, while ByteDance is about to sell its gaming business and Embracer will likely divest some of its studios. We expect Savvy Games to continue deploying more out of the $38B ear-marked for gaming M&A and financings this year. With a tightening regulatory environment in China, we foresee Tencent and other Chinese strategics to continue increasing their investments and acquisitions in the Western markets.
- While we expect some large ticket sized M&A deals, we forecast a continued uptick in smaller to mid size M&A deals in 2024. Private equity firms are attracted by the current lower valuations of listed gaming companies, and we expect several gaming companies being taken private this year.
- We predict a healthy amount of seed / early-stage financings and a limited amount of growth / later stage rounds. Hot segments will be AI / tools and AR / VR.
- Entrepreneurs will likely focus on reaching profitability early in the life cycle of a company and are increasingly attracted to joining a larger company as part of mid-range acquisition vs. going for a home-run outcome.
- The crypto market saw a strong recovery in 2023 and more recently due to the approval of multiple BTC ETFs. We are hopeful that the steep appreciation of some of the popular gaming cryptocurrencies (such as Solana) together with the launch of some fun blockchain games that attract a broad audience will lead to further expansion of the crypto gaming market in 2024.
- With public gaming market improving in the first half of 2024, we expect to see some of the IPO ready gaming companies to restart their going public efforts in the second half of the year.
